OFFICIAL MASCOT

Mocha

After months in the works, we present you osu!taiko's official mascot: Mocha

Based on Crowie's submission (which was ranked at 21 during the polls). It was chosen due to the unique messy curled up twintails that screams strong character silhouette and easily suggests motion. Plus, the adhesive bandage on her nose is a nice touch.

Finalising the design of the cheerful and lively girl was a time consuming effort; it took countless drafts and revisions to nail down the final design. Throughout the entire design process, we did our best to ensure that it didn't stray too far from the original submitted design.

We gave the character green hair to represent the official colour for osu!taiko mode. We've also gave her a different bang colour just like pippi (although for this case, it's just a different shade); and this is the direction that we plan to keep for our future mascots.

The official costume colours are red and blue, representing osu!taiko's drum colours; with taiko icon and motif on it.

More details on Mocha will be revealed in the near future.

Character Silhouette

Official Design Reference

Pointed out are the key design elements that makes Mocha, Mocha.

Her hair is dark green with messy curled-up twintails. Her front bangs are lighter green (please ensure that the bangs are distinctive). Officially she uses scrunchies to tie her hair, but it she could use anything else. The star hairpins are optional. The adhesive bandage on her nose is compulsory; it can be in any colour or design.

Red dress, with osu!taiko mode icon logo and osu!taiko motif on it. The dress's ribbon is huge by design, making the colour ratio between red and blue almost 1:1.

The official eye colour is blue with a star iris. This is highly recommended but not compulsory as some artist might not be able to adapt the eye design to their personal illustration style.

Mocha

Illustration Sample, with non-Official Casual Wear

Mocha can wear anything other than her official dress. There is no official guideline for her non-official wear; however, she must be presented decently.

The character must be identifiable via her distinctive hair and the adhesive bandage on the noise.
